            People always ask me how to best brew coffee at home. As a whole people seem to want the best tasting coffee with the least amount of effort involved. I would say that even I fall into this category. Thankfully brewing coffee at home doesn't have to be that hard or technical at all...with just a few simple tools and some basic brewing fundamentals. you can make incredibly delicious coffee at home with relatively little effort. In fact once you do this for about a week it'll become second nature and you'll probably be able to do it blindfolded.
